The selection and election of members shall be conducted as follows:

(1) the President of the Senate shall cause to be established the Selection Committee of fifteen members, consisting of the President of the Supreme Court of Justice, the President of the Constitutional Court, the President of the Supreme Administrative Court, Rectors of all State higher education institutions which are juristic persons, being elected among themselves to be seven in number, and representatives of all political parties having a member who is a member of the House of Representatives, provided that each party shall have one representative and all such representatives shall elect among themselves to be five in number; and the Selection Committee shall have the duties to select and prepare a list of names of eighteen qualified persons and submit it to the President of the Senate with the consent of the nominated persons within thirty days as from the date when a ground for the selection of persons to be in such office occurs. The resolution making such nomination must be passed by votes of not less than three-fourths of the total number of the existing members of the Selection Committee;

(2) the President of the Senate shall convoke a sitting of the Senate for the purpose of passing a resolution, by secret ballot, electing the nominated persons in the list under (1). For this purpose, the persons who receive the highest votes which are more than one-half of the total number of the existing senators shall be elected as members, but if the number of the persons who are elected and receive the highest votes which are more than one-half of the total number of the existing senators is less than nine, the name-list of the remaining nominees shall be submitted to the senators for voting on another occasion consecutively. In such case, the persons receiving the highest votes in respective order in the specified number shall be elected as members. If there are persons receiving equal votes in any order which result in having more than nine persons, the President of the Senate shall draw lots to determine who are elected persons.

(3) The President of the Senate shall countersign the Royal Command appointing the President and members. There shall be the National Counter Corruption Commission called the "N.C.C. Commission." in brief, consisting of the President and other eight qualified members appointed by the King with the advice of the Senate.

Office Term

Members shall hold office for a term of nine years as from the date of their appointment by the King and shall serve for only one term. Members who vacate office at the expiration of term shall remain in office to continue to perform their duties until the newly appointed members take office.

Expiration of the Term

1. In addition to the vacation of office at the expiration of the term under section 12, members vacate office upon:

- (1) death;
- (2) having attained the age of seventy years;
- (3) resignation;
- (4) being disqualified under section 9 or being under any of the prohibitions under section 10;
- (5) violation of section 11;
- (6) being removed by a resolution of Senate under section 16;
- (7) being sentenced by a judgment to imprisonment.

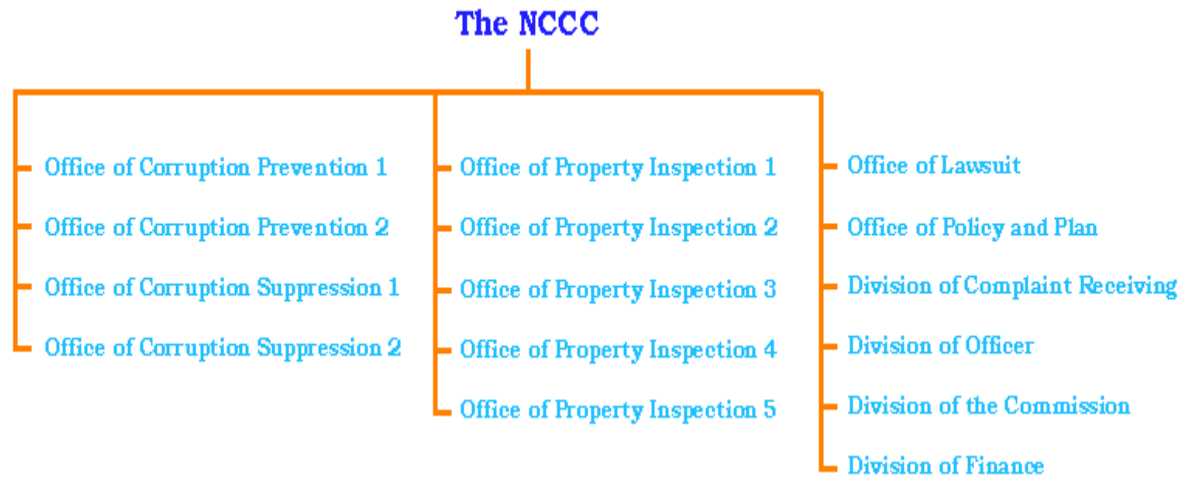

When the circumstance under paragraph one occurs, the remaining members may continue to perform duties and it shall be deemed that the N.C.C. Commission consists of the existing members.

2. Upon vacation of office of a member, the proceeding under section 7 shall be commenced within thirty days as from the date of vacation. In the case where a member vacates office under section 13, the provisions of section 7 shall apply mutatis mutandis. In this case, the Selection Committee shall prepare and submit to the President of the Senate a name-list of qualified persons in the number two times the number of the persons having vacated office. In the case where a member vacates office while the National Assembly is not in session, the proceeding under section 7 shall be commenced within thirty days as from the date of the opening of the National Assembly's session.
